Meet the Chamber's 2022 Charity of Choice: GFWC Mechanicsburg Program for Veterans

General Federation of Women's Club Mechanicsburg (GFWC) President Pam Fleck:

"It is so wonderful for the Mechanicsburg Chamber of Commerce to recognize the efforts of GFWC Mechanicsburg members by selecting them as the chamber's "Charity of Choice" this year! The grant from the chamber will be utilized to assist in the club's undertakings to support the tiny home village for homeless veterans!

GFWC Mechanicsburg is currently working with Veterans Outreach to outfit the 15 tiny homes being constructed for homeless veterans in Central PA. The members will be purchasing and pre-washing towels, sheets, etc. to set up the beds and bathrooms with necessities. A fundraiser was held by the club this past March, "Flavors of Mechanicsburg", to help raise money for the project. Over $3,000 was raised during the event. All money raised by GFWC Mechanicsburg stays locally to support community organizations like the Simpson Library, New Hope Ministries After School program, Cumberland/Perry Counties Domestic Violence Shelter (signature project of GFWC) and others. The Mechanicsburg Museum was founded by this club!

GFWC Mechanicsburg is an active member in the Mechanicsburg Chamber of Commerce as well and really appreciates the support given by the chamber! Jeff Palm and staff were of great help with setting up our event last March and is always available as a resource. Being nominated as the "charity of choice" this year is such an honor and we appreciate the recognition of our work!"

Veterans Outreach of Pennsylvania and the tiny home village:

Veterans Outreach is a 501(c)3 nonprofit organization whose mission is to combat homelessness among Veterans by providing support and services needed to promote an empowered life filled with strength and purpose. The Veterans Tiny Home Village is being constructed on a 5-acre parcel along the Susquehanna River that was generously donated by a private family. The village will consist of 15 tiny homes surrounding a Community Center that will provide needed services to assist in the transition to more permanent housing.

GFWC Mechanicsburg's contribution to this project will provide the necessary linens and personal care items needed by the residents during their tenure at the village. This supply will not benefit the veteran just as they live in their home at the village, but will become their personal property as they move on to their permanent home. The GFWC Mechanicsburg is looking to provide an ample supply of products to offer a base for resupply through numerous transitions.

Information on GFWC Mechanicsburg can be found at their website:

CAEDC Launches Two Tourism Grants

The Cumberland Area Economic Development Corporation (CAEDC) through its destination marketing arm, the Cumberland Valley Visitors Bureau, is announcing the return of tourism-focused grants. The returning Tourism Product Development Grant and a new grant, the Tourism Recovery Grant, will launch on Monday, August 28th.

The Tourism Product Development (TPD) Grant is intended to increase the number of products, experiences and services that draw overnight visitors to the Cumberland Valley. Awarded grant projects will increase the number of visits, length of stays and spending by visitors in the County. Applicants for the TPD Grant can request between $25,000-250,000 (previous TPD grant capped at $100,000).

The Tourism Product Development Grant has been on hiatus since mid-2020.

The new Tourism Recovery Grant is designed to help tourism-related industries recover from the Covid-19 Pandemic. Applicants can request between $2,500-$10,000 in funding for this program. The grant can be utilized for the purchase of machinery and equipment, marketing to new audiences, development of new experiences and deferred maintenance that increases tourism or enhance the visitor experience.

For both programs, applicants must provide at least $0.50 match for each dollar awarded. "We're excited to re-launch tourism grant opportunities for many businesses in the Cumberland Valley as they continue to rebuild and find new ways to highlight our area as a tourism destination" said CAEDC Marketing Manager, Ashley Kurtz.

CAEDC began offering tourism grants in 2010 and has awarded over $1.9 million to 199 projects. Notable grant projects include a large outdoor entertainment area at Midway Bowling Alley, two Escape Rooms at Grand Illusion Hard Cider, portions of the Cumberland Valley Rail Trail, including the Conrail Museum, a new performance space at the Central Pennsylvania Youth Ballet, and a tasting room at Winery At The Long Shot Farm.

The Winery at The Long Shot Farm Co-Owner Tina Weyant said "We have been growing grapes and berries in the Cumberland Valley for many years, and we are so thankful for the generous support from CAEDC, allowing us to share our passion for making wine."

TFEC RECEIVES NATIONAL RECOGNITION

Local Organization Reaccredited with Rigorous Philanthropic Standards

The Foundation for Enhancing Communities (TFEC) recently received reaccreditation with The Community Foundations National Standards®, the nation's highest standard for philanthropic excellence. National Standards for U.S. Community Foundations® establish legal, ethical, effective practices for community foundations everywhere.

"Meeting the National Standards benchmarks is a rigorous, comprehensive process," said Randy Royster, board member of the Council on Foundations. "This accreditation is a significant accomplishment that indicates The Foundation for Enhancing Communities demonstrates a commitment to transparency, quality, integrity and accountability as it carries out its mission."

The National Standards for U.S. Community Foundations® program requires community foundations to document their policies for donor services, investments, grantmaking, and administration. The program is designed to provide quality assurance to donors, as well as to their legal and financial advisors.

Paramount to TFEC's mission is the practice of handling donated assets and the creation of permanent funds, investment, and grantmaking for the benefit of local nonprofits and the furtherment of its goals within the community it serves.

"When people come to TFEC with their philanthropic interests, they put their trust in us. They count on us to manage their investment wisely and honor their charitable wishes. The National Standards accreditation says we go above and beyond the requirements to demonstrate accountability and excellence. We are very proud of this reaccreditation," said Black.

In addition to affirming the organization's philanthropic services, the reaccreditation validates TFEC's grantmaking practices for the nonprofit community.

The Community Foundations National Standards Board is a supporting organization of the Council on Foundations and is responsible for the quality, value and integrity of compliance with National Standards. For more information on the National Standards Board, visit its website at www.cfstandards.org.

Penn State Health, Mid Penn Bank commit to partnership that will raise more than $1 million for Department of Urology

Commitment strengthens No Shave November fundraising efforts

Penn State Health and Mid Penn Bank are strengthening their commitment to supporting life-changing care and increasing cancer research in central Pennsylvania. As an expansion of the organizations' No Shave November partnership, Mid Penn Bank has committed to lead a campaign over the next four years that will bring their fundraising total since 2020 to $1.1 million.

"We're proud to deepen our long-time partnership with Penn State Health and the College of Medicine and contribute to our shared goal of improving men's health," Mid Penn Bank President and CEO Rory Ritrievi said.

Each November since 2016, participants from both organizations have ditched their razors and grown their facial hair with the goal of raising cancer awareness and starting conversations about prostate health. In 2022, they collectively raised a record-breaking $241,000 for men's health and cancer research. Today, Mid Penn Bank committed to leading the campaign that will build on the success of previous efforts and raise $1.1 million by 2026.

Money raised supports the Department of Urology's involvement in the Pennsylvania Urologic Regional Collaborative (PURC), a quality-improvement initiative that connects urology practices in a physician-led, data-sharing and improvement collaborative aimed at advancing the quality of diagnosis and care for patients with prostate cancer. PURC's goal is to improve the care of people in central Pennsylvania who are suspected of having or have been diagnosed with prostate cancer.

"We're so grateful that Mid Penn Bank has joined us as a champion for men's health," said Dr. Jay Raman, interim chair of the Department of Urology at Penn State Health Milton S. Hershey Medical Center and Penn State College of Medicine. "Community partnerships are important in growing awareness, educating our communities and getting men the care they need."

This commitment also supports the research of physician-scientists in the Department of Urology that focuses on cancer care in the aging population, addresses cancer disparities in minority populations and increases genetic testing of cancer patients to better determine risk and personalize therapies. In addition to supporting cancer research, the money helps provide free prostate cancer screenings for the community, supports mission-based work by the department to underserved areas regionally and nationally and makes available educational conferences for patients and health care professionals covering elements of cancer prevention and screening.

"Philanthropy is absolutely vital to medical research. This support helps dedicated researchers uncover groundbreaking, lifesaving treatments for prostate cancer and other diseases affecting men's health," said Dr. Kevin Black, interim dean of the College of Medicine.

In honor of Mid Penn Bank's leadership and financial commitment to this fundraising effort, Penn State will name the second-floor outpatient clinic at Penn State Cancer Institute the Mid Penn Bank Outpatient Clinic.

Gifts from community partners like Mid Penn Bank advance the University's historic land-grant mission to serve and lead. Through philanthropy, alumni and friends are helping students to join the Penn State family and prepare for lifelong success; driving research, outreach and economic development that grow our shared strength and readiness for the future; and increasing the University's impact for families, patients, and communities across the commonwealth and around the world.
